

When we make trips to see the relative in the upper peninsula XM is the only thing we listen to. It's a great relief from the static and constant searching on regular radio channels.